Using the 2-Burner Electric Cooktop

- 1. Place a dry, flat-bottomed pan on the burner.
- 2. Turn the knob clockwise to start and adjust the heat—the farther you turn, the hotter it gets.
- 3. The red light next to the knob indicates the burner is on and hot.
- 4. Only place cookware on the burner while it’s on.
- 5. Turn the knob to OFF when finished and allow the burner to cool before cleaning.

Safety tips: Never leave the stove unattended, keep flammable items away, and contact the front desk at (805) 586-0080 with any issues.

- 1 CYCLE MODES
- 2 TIMER
- 3 ENERGY SAVER

OVEN

Turn the knob clockwise to increase heat. The burner cycles between OFF and full power—the more you turn it, the hotter it gets. A red light next to each knob turns on when that burner is ON and hot.

Don't put anything (except cookware) on the burner while the red light is on—it's too hot to touch.

COOKING MODES

Oven Light: Turns the oven light on when selected.

Broil: Best for melting cheese, toasting and browning. For optimal results, use in conjunction with the Broil temperature setting.

Fan Grill: Utilizes a high heat grilling element and fan to circulate hot air throughout the oven. Ideal for cooking large cuts of meats so that they are moist inside and crisp on the outside. Use a thermometer to check the internal temperature. It is recommended to set the temperature no higher than 400°F.

Convection Cooking: Utilizes the powerful heating element surrounding the fan to evenly distribute heat throughout the oven. This is great for multi-shelf cooking because the fan ensures each rack is heated.

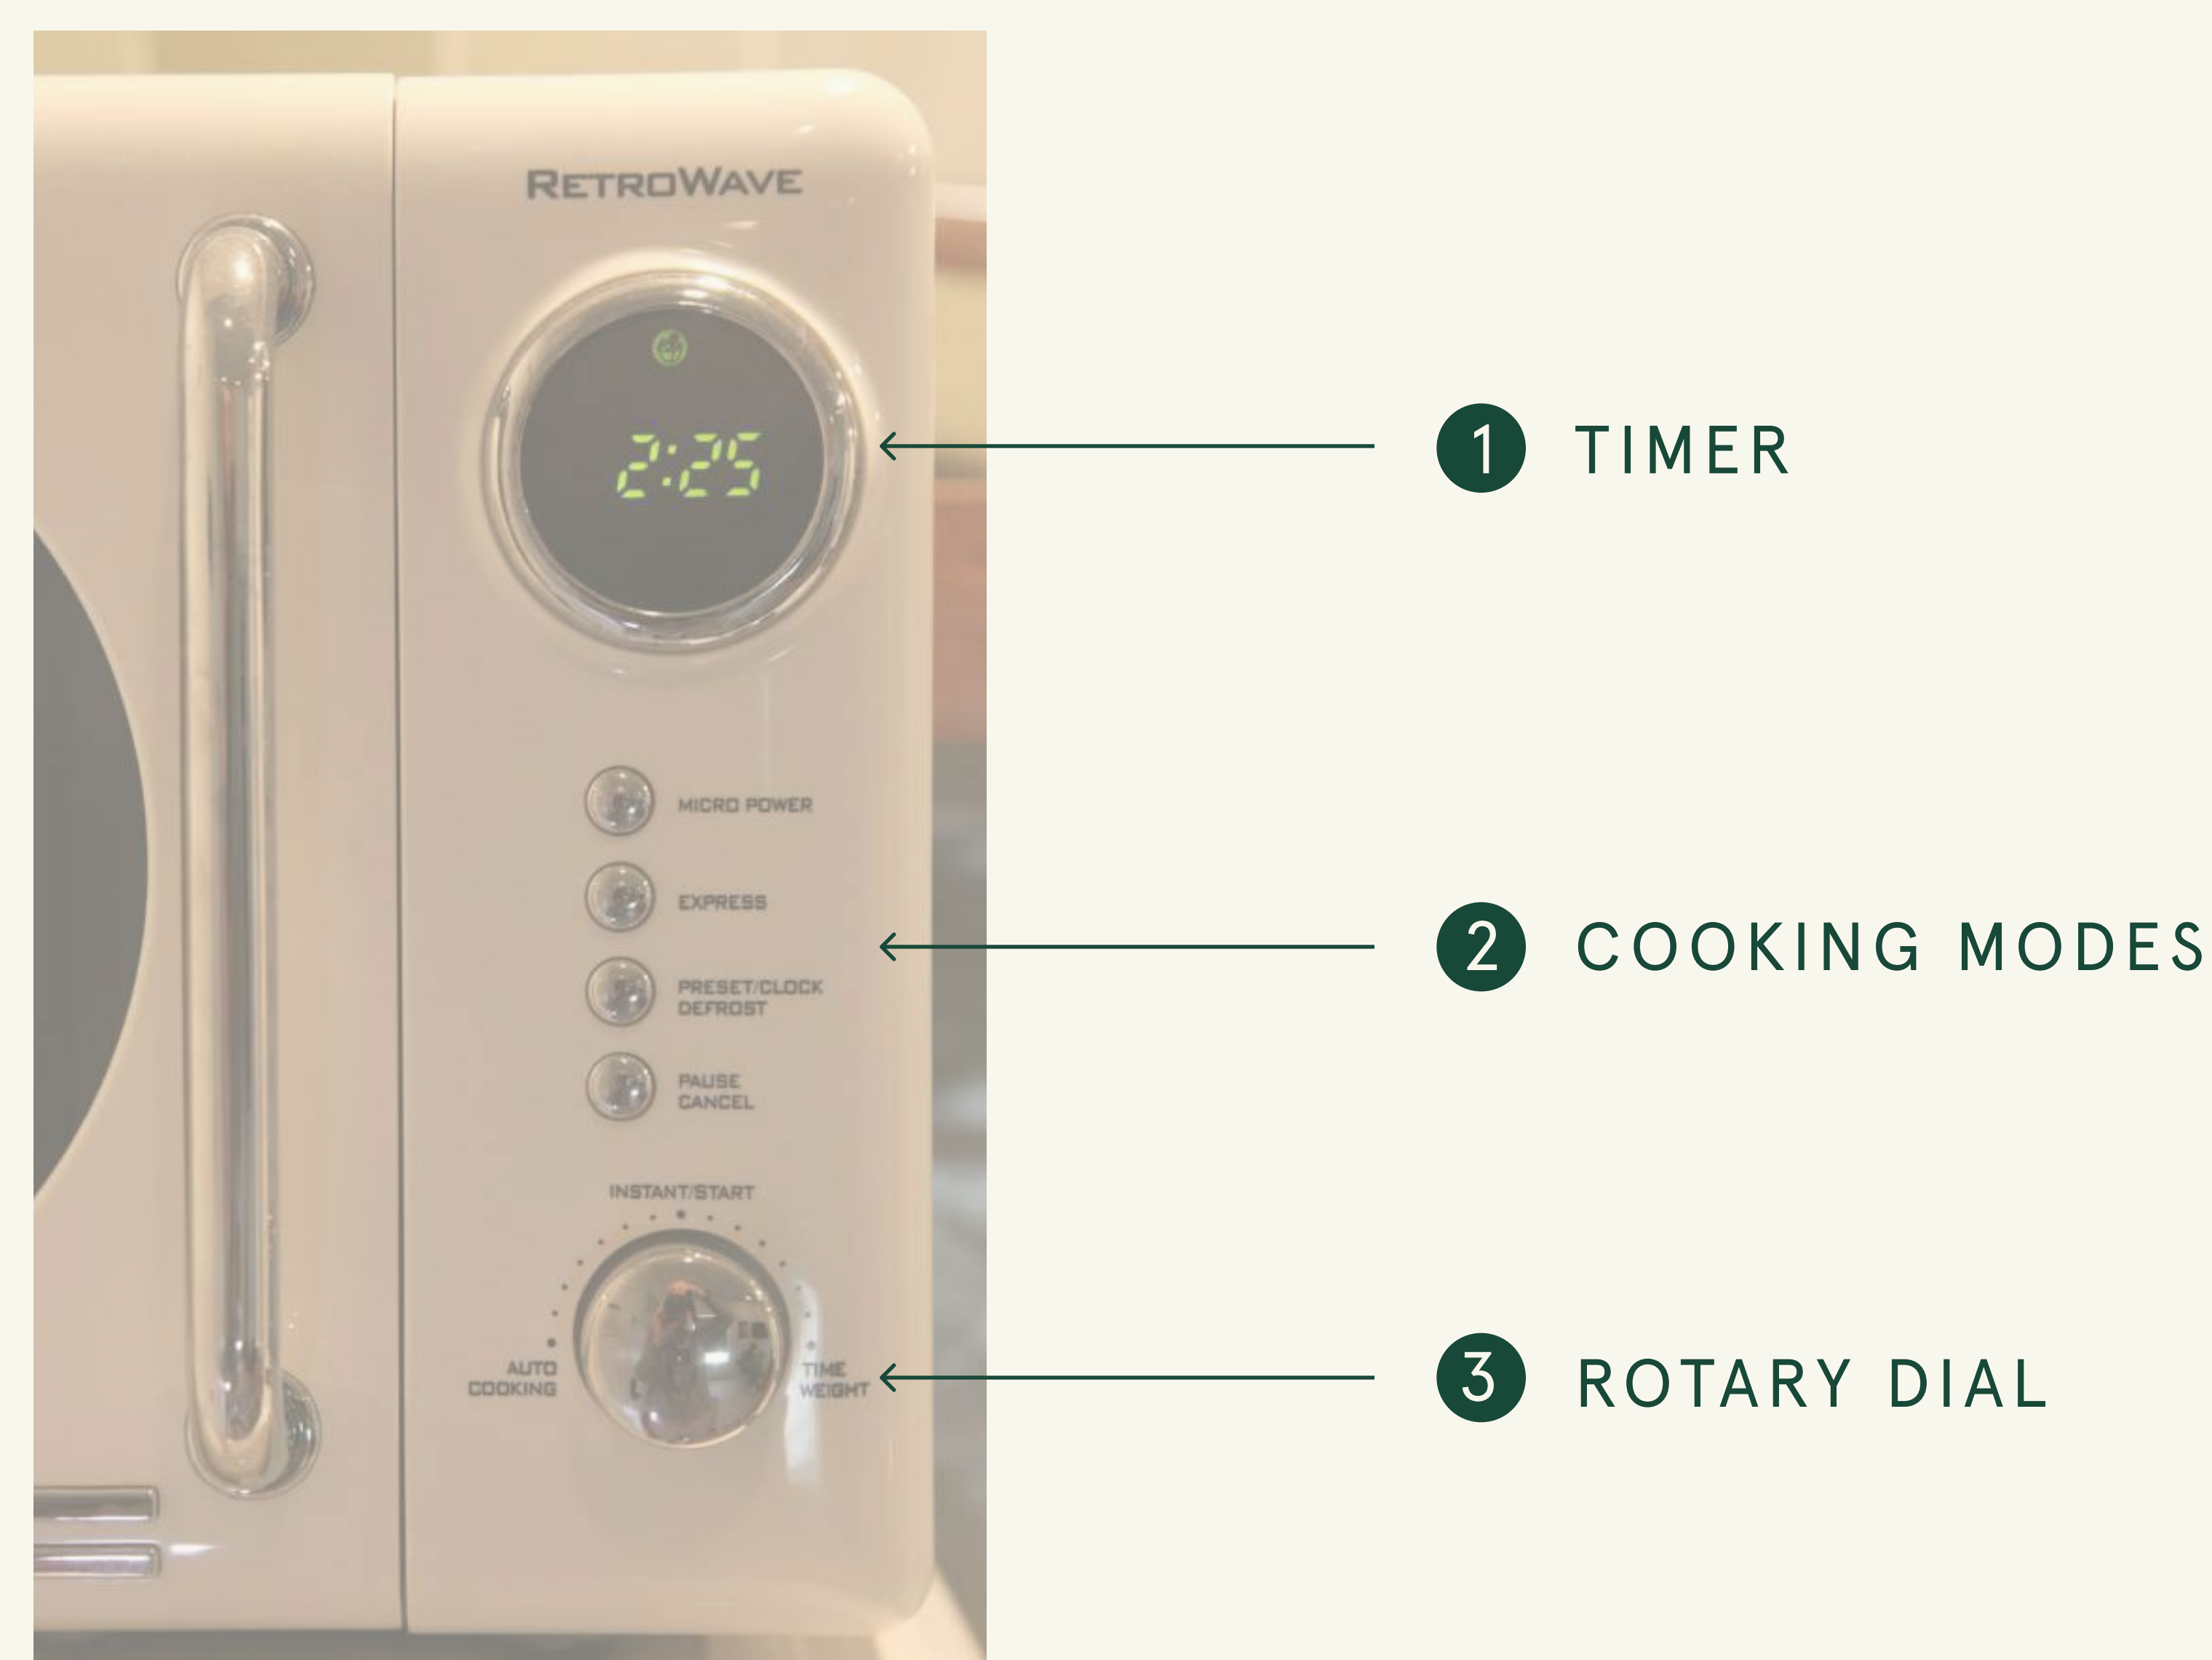

Defrost: Circulates air at room temperature to defrost food. For foods such as meat, fish, and bread, Convection Cooking Mode, set between 175°–225°F, can be used to accelerate the defrosting process.

MICROWAVE

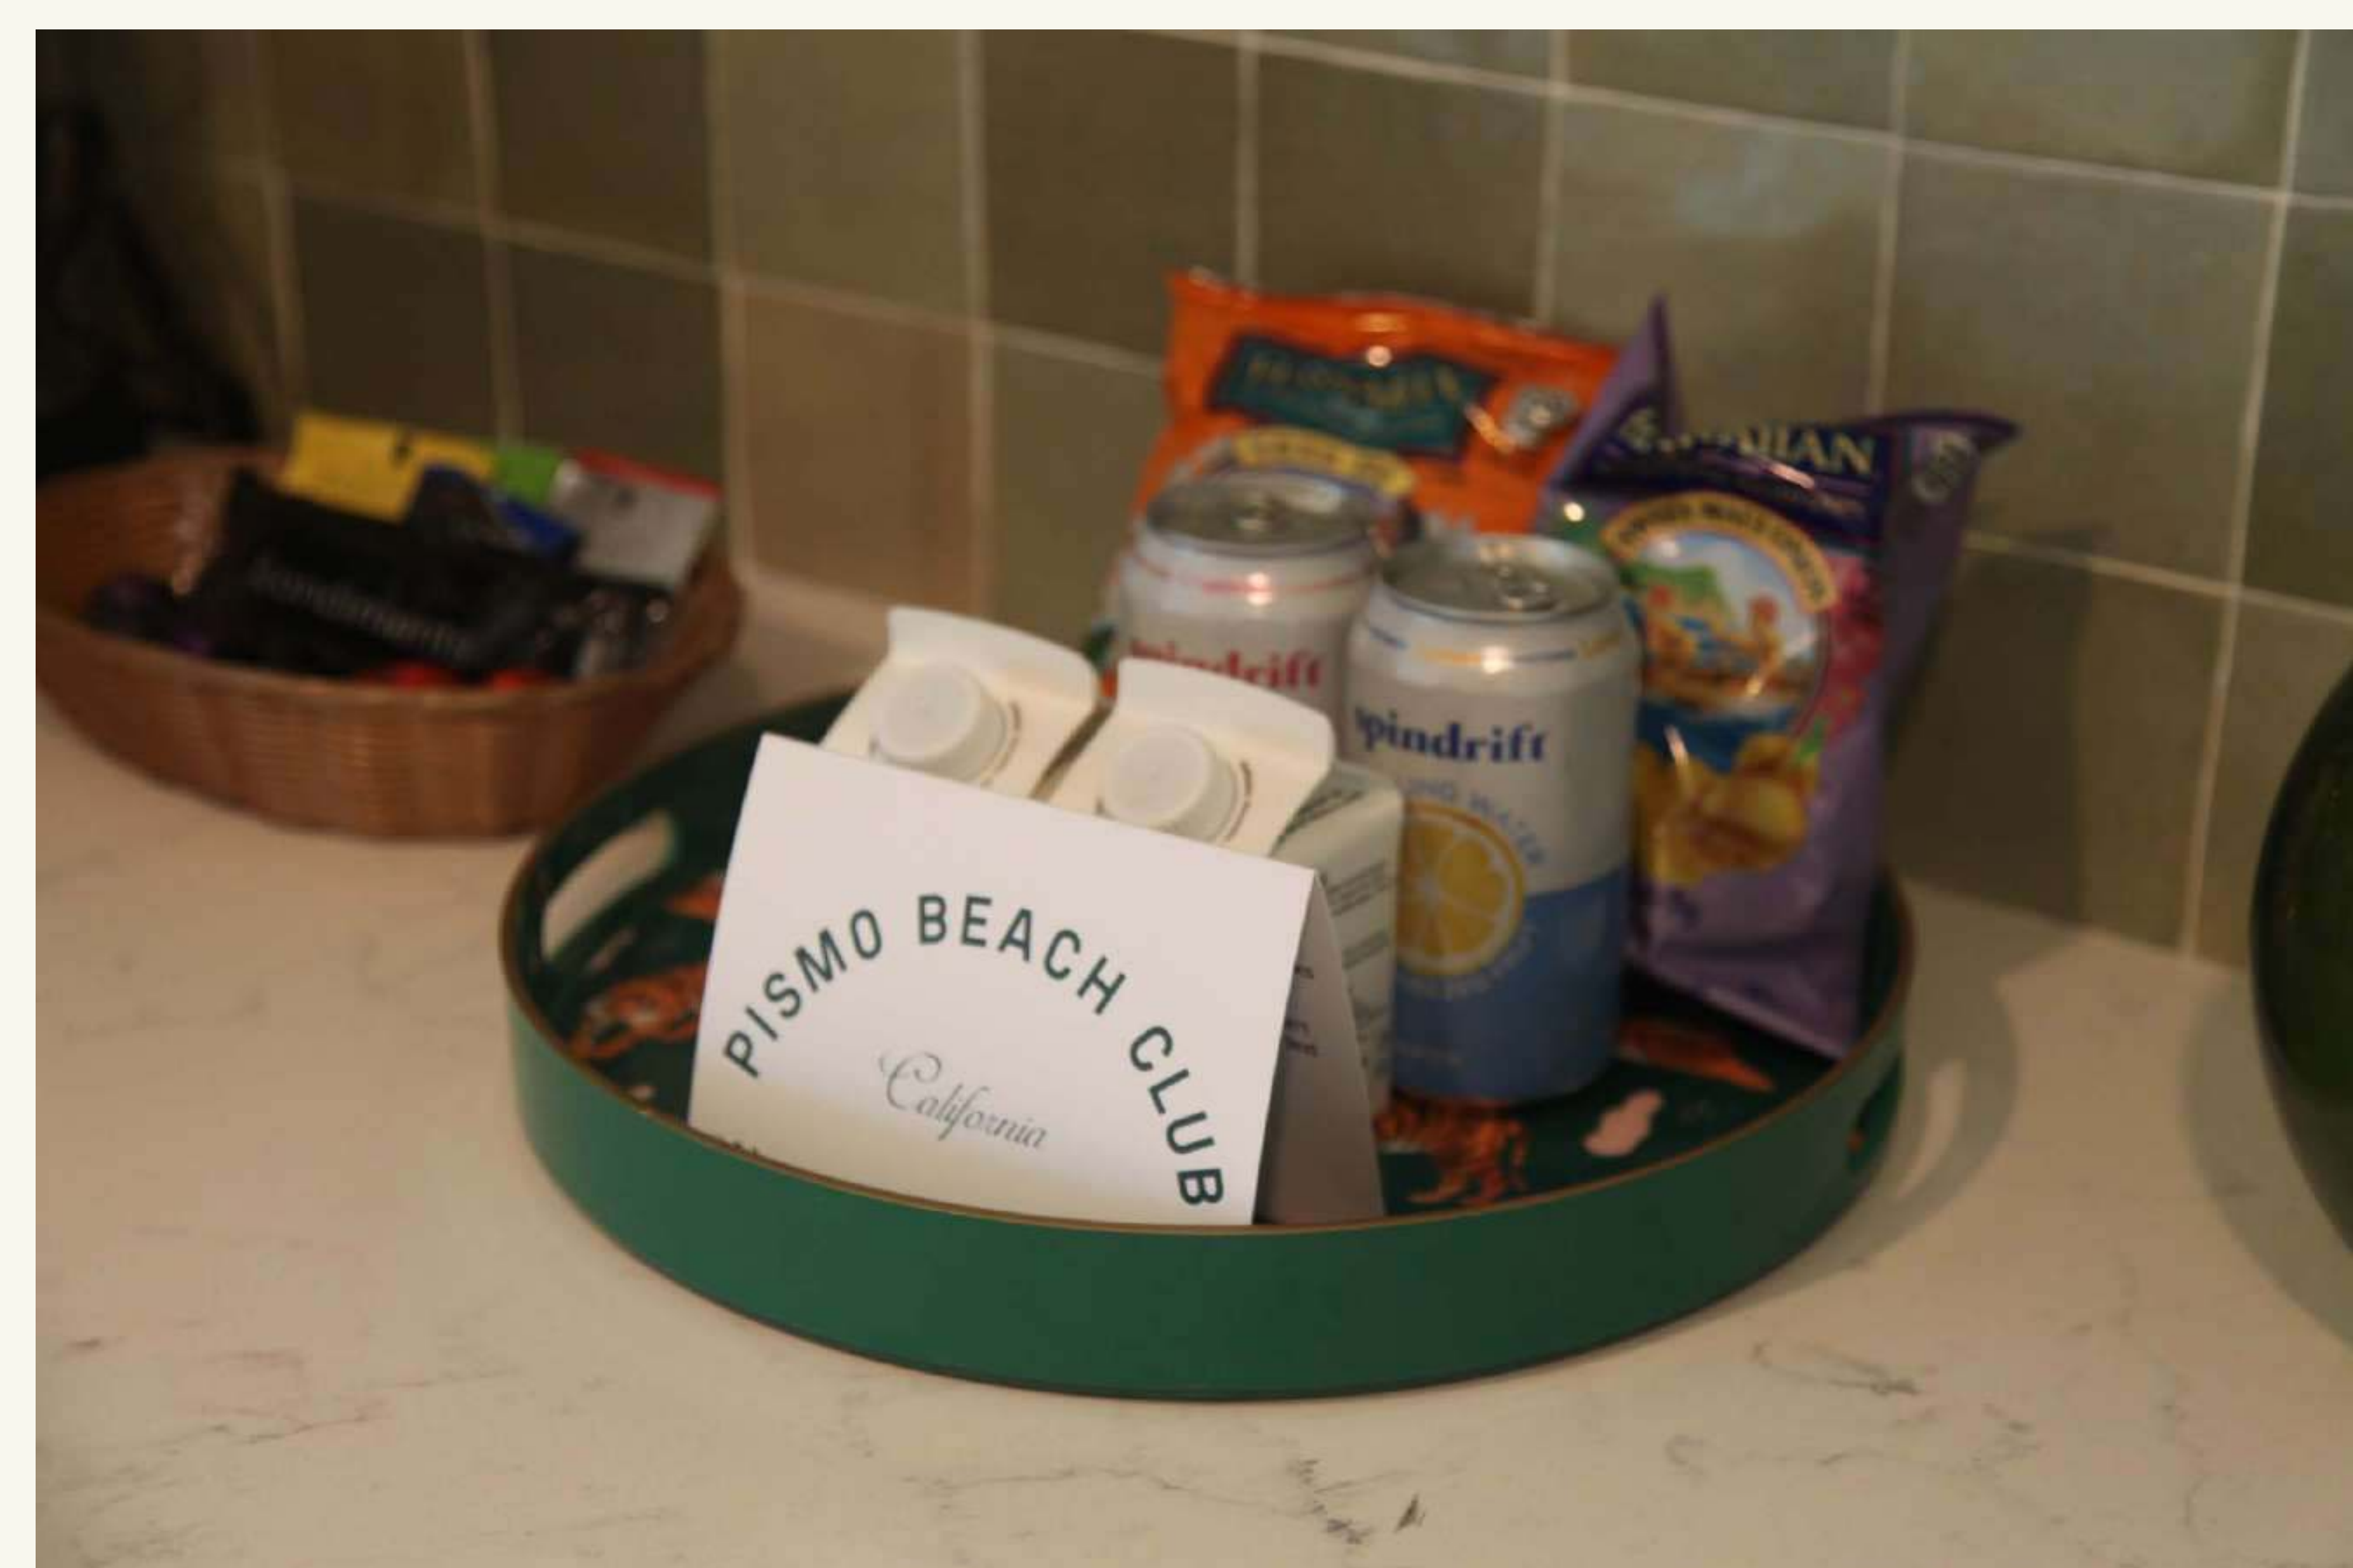

Open the Door

- Pull the handle to open the microwave door.
- Put your food on a microwave-safe plate or container.
- Close the door securely.
- Set the Cooking Time
- Use the rotary dial to set the time (turn clockwise).
- For example, turn to 1:00 for 1 minute.
- Press the START button to begin heating.
- The microwave will automatically start and count down.
- Press STOP/CANCEL to pause or stop the microwave at any time.
- When done, the microwave will beep.
- Carefully open the door and take out your food –it may be hot!

SNACKS & SPARKLING WATER

All the snacks and sparkling waters on the tray in the kitchen are complimentary—please help yourself and enjoy! We love treating our guests to a few extra comforts during their stay.

We have additional linens, toilet paper, tissues, soap, and paper towels in the laundry room. If you need more than what is available in the laundry room, please text or call us at 805.586.0080.

HISTORY OF PISMO

Pismo Beach, nestled along California's Central Coast, boasts a rich and fascinating history that dates back thousands of years.

The region was originally home to the Chumash people, who thrived along the coastline for centuries, relying on the abundant marine life and natural resources. The name "Pismo" is derived from the Chumash word Pismo, meaning "tar," referring to the natural tar springs found in the area, which the Chumash used to waterproof their canoes and other tools.

In the late 1700s, Spanish explorers arrived, and the land later became part of a Mexican land grant known as Rancho Pismo. After California became a U.S. state in 1850, the area began to attract settlers, and in 1881, John Michael Price, one of the early pioneers, founded the town of Pismo Beach, recognizing its potential as a seaside resort.

By the early 20th century, Pismo Beach had developed into a popular vacation destination, known for its expansive sandy shores and the famous Pismo clams, which were once so abundant that the town became known as the "Clam Capital of the World."

The construction of the Pismo Pier in 1924 further cemented its reputation as a prime tourist spot, drawing visitors for fishing, beachside recreation, and scenic ocean views. Over time, as tourism grew, the town saw the development of hotels, restaurants, and attractions catering to travelers seeking a relaxing coastal retreat.

While commercial clam digging has declined due to conservation efforts, the town continues to celebrate its heritage with the annual Pismo Beach Clam Festival, a tradition dating back to 1946.

Today, Pismo Beach maintains its charm as a quintessential California beach town, blending history, natural beauty, and a welcoming atmosphere that continues to attract visitors from all over.

DAY TRIP ITINERARY

SANTA YNEZ VALLEY DAY TRIP

MORNING

Start your day with a scenic drive from Pismo Beach to the Santa Ynez Valley, about 40–45 minutes. Once you arrive, head to Solvang, a charming Danish-inspired town, for a leisurely breakfast. Stop by Mortensen's Danish Bakery for freshly baked pastries or grab a warm breakfast sandwich at Solvang Restaurant, then stroll through Solvang's quaint streets, shops, and galleries.

Next, head to Epiphany Cellars in the heart of downtown Los Olivos—one of Santa Barbara County's premier producers of Rhône varietals, with a spacious garden courtyard that's ideal for a relaxed, seated tasting. Then make a short drive to Stolpman Vineyards in Ballard Canyon, known for its Rhône varietals and limestone-rich soils, with panoramic vineyard views and estate Syrah and Grenache.

LATE MORNING

(Optional) Continue to Tercero Wines or the Liquid Farm Tasting Room, both in Los Olivos. Tercero offers small-lot Rhône and Loire-inspired varietals, while Liquid Farm's sunny, farmhouse-style room is perfect for relaxing over boutique Chardonnay and Pinot Noir.

LUNCH

Make your way into Los Olivos for lunch. For a quick, casual bite, Panino (2900 Grand Ave) is a local favorite for Italian-inspired sandwiches, soups, and salads—grab one for the patio or take it to a nearby tasting room. For a sit-down meal, The Los Olivos Wine Merchant & Cafe serves Mediterranean-inspired dishes paired perfectly with local wines.

AFTERNOON

After lunch, visit Fess Parker Winery & Vineyard, just outside Los Olivos on the Foxen Canyon Wine Trail. Known for its estate Rhône varietals, Sta. Rita Hills Pinot Noir and Chardonnay, and beautiful grounds, Fess Parker offers a laid-back tasting on its scenic veranda.

Finish your main wine journey at Sunstone Winery in Santa Ynez. This organic estate feels like the Provençal countryside, with stone courtyards, barrel-aging caves, and expansive picnic grounds—the perfect place for a relaxing walk and a final tasting.

LATE AFTERNOON / EARLY EVENING

Extend your tasting with a few satellite wine bar stops:

- Lo-Fi Wines in Los Alamos — a casual room specializing in natural wines.
- Potek Winery in Santa Barbara — a trendy downtown tasting room and winemaking studio.
- Kunin Wines in Santa Barbara — small-lot Rhône and Loire varietals in a historic downtown location, ideal for a final stop before heading back.

EVENING

On your way back to Pismo Beach, stop in Buellton for dinner at The Hitching Post II, famous for its oak-grilled steaks and Central Coast wines. It's the perfect way to conclude a full day of wine tasting in the Santa Ynez Valley.
